

Kafunta River Lodge in Zambia undergoes a total refurb.

What started out as a minor refurbish, turned into a major rebuild at Kafunta River Lodge. Kafunta is situated within a riverside forest on the banks of the Luangwa River in the South Luangwa National Park.

Each of their chalets now has a bigger bedroom, making them airy, light and spacious; as well as bathrooms that are almost twice the size, with double wash-basins and showers.

This classical Safari Lodge offers eight private chalets which are built on raised wooden platforms under a thatched roof. The mahogany floors and walls give a natural beauty to the luxurious interiors, which are of the very highest standards. Each room has a private veranda with superb views across the waterhole.

The exceptional standards of the guides at Kafunta ensure that visitors see lots of the park's stunning and plentiful wildlife. This is illustrated best at night, when their ability to find leopards, civets, porcupines and other nocturnal creatures, is beyond comparison! Animals even make daily visits to Kafunta's own waterhole!

With these improvements and with their fabulous 5 night+ price packages this makes the lodge an even more attractive option in South Luangwa than ever.
